

Rosilind thanks you!

You may not know Rosilind but she thanks you for sharing in the struggles of the men and women who come to Goodwill. She thanks you for understanding that local people can overcome what seem like insurmountable problems with the help of good-hearted friends like you.

You may be wondering why Rosilind would be thanking you.

It's because GoodwillSOLAC – and You – Changed Rosilind's Life

Rosilind has never let her mild developmental disability stand in her way. Through her family's support and her studies, she learned coping and independent living skills, along with math, reading and writing. She also discovered she was an athlete. At 19, she participated in the 50- and 100-meter events and long jump in the Special Olympics. Today, at 49, she continues to compete. Her "track" record has also shined in her employment at Goodwill, where she has worked in our cafeteria, as a sales associate, in our secured document shredding service, and at several area businesses.

Working, said Rosilind, has changed her life. "I now look at people when they talk to me. Working gives me such a sense of accomplishment and makes me happy that I can buy the items I need with money I have earned."

Rosilind's story is made possible because of your commitment to GoodwillSOLAC, where our services mean self-sufficiency and a better life for individuals who simply want to earn a living and contribute to our community.

Still, so many more people are in need of our services.

These people are not looking for a handout. They seek practical help, education and the opportunity to get their lives back on track and to live more independently.

Can you help them today with a generous donation of $25, $50, or even $100?
You'll be transforming lives and strengthening our community – one person at a time.

Sincerely,

Janet McCarthy-Wilson
